

Profile (as it will appear in the election materials)

SUMMERS, Dani

SUMMERS, Dani is eligible to stand for election as a resident of the Shire of Pingelly.

I grew up on the outskirts of metro areas, a child of the 80s born to middle class parents in an era of affordable housing. I graduated Uni as valedictorian in my BCom Accounting, Public Policy & Management cohort.

I worked with Federal Minister Ian Campbell between 2004-07. This sparked an enduring passion for the intersection of government policies with vulnerable populations. Life intervened - employment in financial admin roles, 21yrs of marriage to Scott and step-mumming to Hannah, self-employment, and restoring our 125yr Pingelly cottage since 2019. Now in 2025 - I have picked up where I left off.

The housing crisis is affecting people I care about, and more I haven't met. As a councillor, I will fight to maximise our town's ability to grow, prosper, and activate our underutilised capacity. I'm experienced enough to know what local government can and can't do. Savvy enough to see the gaps where we risk falling behind. And dedicated to listening, understanding, and daring to lead.
